GOOD PATTERN OF A BOAT MADE BY GEO. R. STEPHENSON, NORWAY, MAINE
He builds boats, canoes, oars and paddles that are unsurpassed for model, workmanship and quality of the stock used.

Base Ball.
On the Fair Grounds, Saturday, the Radcliffe defeated the South Paris team by the score of 7 to 2.

In the absence of McNamara, Capt. French pitched the game for the Radcliffe. The home team took the lead in the first inning and kept it throughout the game. The visitors were not dangerous at any time.

The home team scored two in the first inning on three errors and a stolen base; one in the second on two hits and a stolen base; one in the third on three hits and a wild pitch; and three in the sixth on four hits, a stolen base and a passed ball.

The visitors scored one in the second on an error, a hit by pitcher and a single; one in the fourth on two hits and a base on balls; and one in the fifth on a base on balls and two hits.

French was effective with men on bases, while Cole was touched up freely throughout the game.

In the last inning a fast double play by French, Leonard and Bonney, with three men on bases killed the visitors' chances of a "grand slam" finish.

C. Shaw's batting was a feature of the game. Archie Parlin contributed a ping-pong juggling act in right field in the fourth inning, the ball finally getting away from him after several very pretty toss-ups.

The work of the umpire was evidently not particularly pleasing to either team. Following is the score:

Who Said Cat?
"I didn't say cat; did you say cat?" is not as meaningless conversation as might be assumed, for thereon hangs a tale.
The spectacle of sober, sedate citizens dodging from tree to house corner, hot on the trail, and ghosting in the most approved Old King Brady fashion can better be imagined than described. Through the darkness so dense and enveloping, pursued and pursuers hasted, and the chill of approaching tragedy in the very air.
And the next morning! Important village, town and county officials came, and many whose only business in connection with the detective work was the heavy looking on, the onerous superintendency in which line there are a few experts here. And after the grapple revealed its recovered treasure and the crowd dissolved, "like the Arabs and silently steal away," remaining one of the Scripture, "They shall come against thee one way, and shall flee from thee seven ways."

The secured package was duly replaced in its hiding place.
Requires CAT in pace.
Elizabeth Thompson of Portland is visiting at R. N. Hall's.

Victor Mason was injured Wednesday afternoon, by the cutting of the tip of two fingers of his left hand on a saw at the Paris Manufacturing Company's factory.
Ernest E. Cross and George M. Bray, who have been in jail about two months for selling liquor in Bethel, were released on bail, Wednesday afternoon, having found friends to advance the price.

Mr. Mica Lodge of Odd Fellows of South Paris will have an excursion to Portland next Saturday, Aug. 5, leaving on the early morning train and returning on the late train. The trip is not limited to Odd Fellows as every one is invited to take this chance of getting a breath of salt air at a small cost.
S. M. King got the back of one hand against the time of a pitchfork, Friday, laying open a gash which it required eleven stitches to close, and which will put the hand off duty for a few days. Fortunately Mr. King was practically through haying, having secured the largest crop he ever put in his barn.

During August there will be a series of half hour sermons to the young people at the Methodist church on "Dreams of Youth," "Vacations and a Safe Life," "Samaritana and Martin Luther." These sermons will be delivered by the pastor on three Sunday mornings, but on Aug. 13th Rev. D. C. Abbott of Lisbon will preach morning and evening.
Last Friday evening, the people of the village were treated to a genuine sensation. A mysterious couple were seen going down Park street carrying a suspicious looking bundle from which faint waifs proceeded. They were followed at a distance to the bridge, and heard a splash, the couple hurrying home as soon as possible. The authorities were notified and preparations made to drag the river. Saturday morning it developed that it was a cat.

On Tuesday of last week E. N. Haskell celebrated his birthday with the entertainment of a party numbering seventeen at his camp south of the village, where he is spending his vacation from the store. A shore supper was served with fresh clams and lobsters and all the accessories, topped out with a birthday cake. After supper Mr. Haskell was presented with a number of gifts, most of them of more sentimental than pecuniary value. Many friends made a very happy presentation address in connection with the gifts, and Mr. Haskell responded in kind. The evening was highly enjoyed by those present.

The first tea of the season was held at the golf links on Saturday. Mrs. L. M. Brown was hostess and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by a large number of members and their friends. In the putting contest the prize for men was won by Rev. C. A. Knickerbocker, that for ladies, a tie between Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Harlow and Miss Carter. In the play off Mrs. Brown won but resigned in favor of Mrs. Harlow.

RECEPTION TO REV. A. K. BALDWIN.
A reception was held, Friday evening, to Rev. A. K. Baldwin and wife in the vestry of the Congregational church, which was provided with some extra furnishings for the occasion and decorated with plants and ferns. A punch bowl in one corner of the room was presided over by some of the young ladies of the church. A large number of the members of the church and congregation and invited guests from the other churches were present, and were received by the deacons of the church and their wives, and presented to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin.
After all were assembled Capt. H. N. Bolster called to order, and in a brief address extended a hearty welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin responded feelingly, and manifested a thorough appreciation of the work which he would be expected to do in the church and the community.
Other addresses of welcome were made by Rev. H. A. Clifford of the M. E. church, Rev. B. S. Rideout of Norway Congregational church, Rev. J. W. Chesbro of the Baptist church and Albert D. Park, speaking in behalf of Rev. J. H. Little of the Universalist church in the latter's absence.

All spoke pleasantly and earnestly, in a happy vein. A very cordial letter from Rev. W. E. Brooks, D. D., the preceding pastor, was read by Eva Walker.
Between the speeches was interspersed music, which included a duet by Mrs. Smiley and Mr. Briggs, solos by Mr. Dunn and Miss Wheeler, and singing by a quartet—Messrs. Dunn, Cole, Briggs and Hall, with Mrs. C. S. Briggs at the piano.
Following the program refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, and company soon after dispersed.

Chicago Society Woman Who Was So Sick She Could Not Sleep or Eat, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

When a woman's kidneys go wrong, her back gives out and every little task becomes a burden. She is tired, nervous, sleepless, run down—suffers daily from backache, headaches, dizzy spells, and bearing-down pains.

Don't worry over imagined "female troubles." Cure the kidneys and you will be well. Read how to find the cure.

Marion Knight, of 33 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., member of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and a well-known club woman, says: "This winter when I started to take Doan's Kidney Pills I ached in every bone and had in tense pains in the kidneys and pelvic organs. The urine was thick and cloudy, and I could barely get enough to live. I felt a change for the better within a week. The second week I began eating heartily. I began to improve generally, and before seven weeks had passed I was well. I had spent hundreds of dollars for medicine that did not help me, but $6 worth of Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to perfect health."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Miss Knight will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-McBurn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

A booklet description of Dr. Greene's methods and treatment mailed free upon application. See ad, which appears only this once in this paper.

The annual reunion of the Twenty-third Maine Regimental Association, of which Capt. H. N. Bolster is secretary will be at Lake Grove, Auburn, Aug. 6.

The rain of Sunday and Monday brought the water up so that the intercalars in Fryeburg were all under water. The roads were covered and great damage done to the meadow grass by sand. This was the first freshet on the Saco river for the year.

Burglary at Hebron.

There was quite an excitement at Hebron, the morning of July 27, on finding the post-office had been broken into during the night. About $100 in money and stamps was taken and eight or ten dollars in change belonging to Postmaster H. L. Melcher.

Some one got into H. T. Glover's house, Monday night, but was frightened away. July 28, his creamery was broken into and a can of cream taken and a horse let out of the barn. Two axes and a wrench were taken. The wrench was found at the post-office looks as if both breaks were made by the same party.

The break was through a window in the rear of the post-office annex to Mr. Melcher's store. They unlocked the safe and looked it after abstracting the contents so that the loss was not quickly discovered.

Fryeburg.

To Leave Town.

The people of Fryeburg will deeply regret to learn that Emerson Adams, principal of the Academy, and family, are about to leave for Rhode Island. Mrs. B. F. Stanley.

In Harrison, July 19, 1905, Mrs. Benjamin F. Stanley departed this life aged 75 years, 6 months, 25 days. The immediate cause of her death was paralysis after an illness of 18 years during which time she was a great sufferer. She was of a quiet and charitable disposition and bore her long illness with great fortitude and cheerfulness. She was blessed with a kind loving family and friends to minister to her wants.

She was a devoted wife and mother and always ready to do all in her power for the benefit of her family. Her husband, daughter, son and grandson are left to mourn her loss. The funeral services were conducted at the family residence by the Rev. Mr. Winn, pastor of the Congregational church at Harrison.

Centennial Celebration Begun.
In the afternoon at the Congregational church, Rev. C. Sampson gave a historical address. The church had been elaborately decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting. Nasturtiums added their brilliant color and hundreds of water lilies gave out their sweet fragrance. The picture of the pulpit was the Rev. Mr. Richardson loaned by his grandson, Dr. J. P. Blake. Mr. Richardson became pastor of the church in 1885.

The church was instituted in Feb. 1826, but has no record prior to 1853. It is the oldest church organization in town, the Free Baptist was organized later in the same year.

Mr. Sampson's address was listened to with much interest by a good congregation though not as large as it doubtless would have been on a pleasant day. However, everyone smiled to see the rain which was so much needed.

Walter E. Bartlett has finished work at Locke's Mills and is assisting through haying and other work on the home farm here.

BUCKFIELD.

Tearing Up The Streets.

Yes, the past week has been one of busy commotion, consequent upon the tearing up of the streets for the introduction of water from North Pond.

Commencing at the bridge with about 65 Italians they excavated well up High St. On the Loring Hill section it appeared necessary to go outside and tear the roots of that ancient elm beneath whose overhanging boughs generation after generation have revelled in their shade. But such is life with abolition of the school district, the base of democratic principles, followed by the incorporation of the village we virtually transfer our individual rights to the control of those who have become rich as the proverbial Jew with the assistance of those who cater to wealth. Like Paul, "we are ready to be offered" reserving a place on the hillside for a dog-out for the little while we stay.

The Bailey Island campers returned Monday.

Carlton Gardner we are glad to see on the streets again after a severe illness.

The Miss Deans are making preparations to go to Old Orchard and dwell in a cottage by the sea.

Mrs. Benj. Gerish's condition is reported favorably from the M. G. Hospital where she is receiving treatment.

H. A. Irish, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Dyer and Dr. A. E. Cole and family have joined the colony at Bailey Island before mentioned.

The early and late rains have come in abundance, and the mills that were slack now are running again and wells are replenished.

Mrs. Rupert Rogers who has been with her sister Mrs. Stanley Benson, has returned to her home in Mass., hastened by the illness of her child.

A. F. Tilton of Auburn who has been quite ill is recuperating at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. Tilton, accompanied by his wife and son Don.

What others think of this village. Turning around a corner came two strangers and the other "Say this is the damndest pretty village I have seen for many a day."

A. W. Horton and wife, Mrs. Millitt and the children of S. N. Buck returned from Summer where Mr. Horton had been cutting the hay on his farm, to Norway Friday, they called on your correspondent on route.

J. S. Sedelinker foreman on the water-works coincides with the others views giving preference to Turner St., but what's the matter with New York avenue? We have spring water, good drainage, the M. E. church and the Long Library. On route.

It seems strange that the municipal officers will let the plank sidewalks in a village remain a menace to life and limb, week after week when they are made aware of the condition. A broken leg is a sad and expensive reminder of their slackness.

There are others who "and come we would be pleased to mention if their friends would pass in their names but we can't run any more than the young man who fell between the skids on the mill brow, and the logs passed over his head. On route, he did not reply with great indignation, "Do you think I am going to run for $10.00 a month?"

Catarrh

Is a constitutional disease. It originates in a scrofulous condition of the blood and depends on that condition.

It often causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the vocal organs, disturbs the stomach. It is always radically and permanently cured by the blood-purifying, alterative and tonic action of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

This great medicine has wrought the most wonderful cures of all diseases depending on a scrofulous or the scrofulous habit.

Hood's Pills are the best cathartics.

EAST STONEHAM.

Accidently Shot.

The young fellow who was accidently wounded two weeks since, was taken to the hospital, July 29. He was accompanied by his nurse. They have been visiting at Mrs. Jane Russell's. The bullet had been removed several days before his removal, but he may need careful treatment for some time to come.

There was a narrow escape from a fatal accident to the fact of the rifle not being powerful one he doubtless owes his life. The course of the bullet was quite lengthy but near the surface, making a flesh wound, without injury to the vital organs.

The accident has spoiled the vacation of the wounded lad, also of the friend who caused the shot. We sincerely hope he has not been injured for life.

Mrs. Josephine Blackford is in very poor health. Her daughter, Mrs. Rice, has been staying with her.

Mrs. Russell is expecting a family to board with her through the month of August from Massachusetts.

We had a heavy shower about noon, last Saturday. It seemed to be right overcast and fairly poured for a short time. There was no shower at North Waterford or North Waterford at the time it rained so here.

It rained here continually during Sunday night and Monday, and a part of the time very hard. Haying is at a stand still. It is seldom we have such a storm at this season of the year. The grass is looking remarkably green. It was becoming dry and dusty before the rain.

There are quite a number of boarders in town. We frequently see some of taking a ride in an automobile, a carriage which would have astonished the natives a few years ago and struck terror to the hearts of the superstitious. Whether we shall live to see people riding on the railroad here and flying in the air in their air ships. We do not know, but have ceased to be surprised at any new invention or fashion.

We were much amused by the story of Mrs. "But" in the last copy of the Advertiser. We have known people very like her who are ever ready praise with a proviso attached of "but," and then go on and repeat some worsted story of some short coming in by gone years of the person under consideration. Out upon such nonsense! If a person cannot speak of another without winding up with a slur, or some innuendoes, why speak at all! Silence is golden sometimes.

A. H. Spears is kept pretty busy. C. S. Stearns has bought a horse of E. Davis of Lowell.

Also Keniston and wife are rejoicing over a baby girl.

S. A. Stearns has had an addition put on his diningroom which makes it much better. Cephas Cobb is doing the carpentering.

Another Ideal Tour.

To the Pacific Coast and the Lewis & Clark Expedition.

On August 28th, the second and last of Bowler's personally conducted tours to the Pacific Coast will start from Portland and Boston, the two sections joining in Montreal where a Special Train will be taken for the entire journey.

This will indeed be a "trip of a life time," as has been declared by the entire party which started with Mr. Bowler on July 5th. The members of the party cannot say enough as to the generous treatment received. The excellent Dining Car Service was much appreciated, the high class hotels were fully enjoyed, and the excellent routes and side trips called for pronounced enthusiasm from one and all. All are loud in their praises of the service which they received and declare that they will always recommend Bowler's Tours as the "Ideal Tours." You may verify this statement by consulting any one of the July party.

Any interested in the August tour, should make their reservations at once, should make their reservations at once.

Address E. C. Bowler, Bethel, Me.

NORTH FRYEBURG.

Mrs. Emma Brown entertained the Bromathan club last Thursday.

Several attended the circle entertained by Mrs. Martha Frye, Wednesday.

Mrs. Dr. Harriman and daughter from Haverhill are visiting her mother, Mrs. Pillsbury.

Mrs. Stephen Charles and little son Wellington spent several days last week visiting friends in Fryeburg.

There will be no meeting at the Universalist church during the month of August, as Rev. H. F. Hoyt is to take a vacation.

Walter Pillsbury, who has been sick just a little time, passed away Thursday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the house, Rev. B. N. Stone of Fryeburg officiating.

Mrs. Simon Charles, Mrs. Alice Charles and Mrs. Marcia Charles visited at Mrs. Mitchell's one day a short time ago. The oldest was 85 years of age and the youngest 70.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Bear Mountain Grange.

At the last meeting of Bear Mountain Grange, several of the children helped to carry out a very interesting program under the direction of Annie Kimball.

Miss K. has a happy faculty of interesting the children and much credit is due to her and them for the success of the meeting.

A vote of thanks was given the little folks, and a hope expressed that their interest in the Grange might continue.

The question, "What can each member do to enhance the benefits and usefulness of the Order," was spiritedly discussed and many suggestions presented.

W. K. Hamlin stated that he was prepared to report upon an experiment.

At a meeting July 1, the question of birds grass blossom was brought up. Brother B. stated that he thought such a thing against the laws of natural science and did not believe there was any second blossom notwithstanding such was the common talk and belief.

No one he said could in mind any other plant where the same bud would blossom a second time after the first one had fully disappeared. "He had thought of this matter for several years and intended to make an experiment."

July 24, he took a string around two different stalks of birds grass that were just beginning to blossom and watched developments each day as he passed them until the 27th of the month, up to that time no second blossom had appeared. This was satisfactory as far as an experiment would go.

The farmers are glad to welcome the recent heavy rains.

Green corn was served on E. P. Kimball's table last.

Mrs. E. Porter has moved to the parsonage. She has been living at the Flat.

A young student from a theological seminary is preaching at the M. E. church.

A hen owned by E. P. Kimball was seen swallowing a green snake measuring ten or twelve inches in length.

E. P. Kimball, P. W. Hawley, Harold Kimball and Merton Kimball caught a string of pickerel from Bear lake last Monday.

Achie Bell, young son of Frank Bell, met with an accident recently. While climbing on the scaffold in their barn he fell, breaking his arm and otherwise injuring himself.

F. W. Hawley of Beverly, Mass., has joined his wife, who is stopping at her sister's, Mrs. Jennie E. Kimball's.

Owen Abbott of Exeter, N. H., visited his brother, E. D. Abbott, last week.

Mrs. Eldin Andrews of Stow fell from stone steps at E. C. Buzzell's and dislocated her wrist.

E. D. Abbott, Owen Abbott and Wilson Harnden visited friends in Denmark and East Fryeburg, Saturday.

A number of people from here are contemplating a visit to Pleasant Mountain for blueberries this week.

EAST OTISFIELD.

Mrs. Melinda Cleveland went to Oaks berrying, Friday.

Stephen Winslow is at work for Franklyn Spiller, haying.

Charles Frost and daughter Alice have been visiting at Frank E. Frost's.

Mrs. George Dyer and Mrs. C. A. Andrews went to Norway last Wednesday.

Ida Stone, Blanche and Philip Lord of Oxford, were in this place one day last week.

J. Fletcher Woodbury of Gray, was in this place last week selling kitchen utensils.

Fred Barton of Welchville, a former resident of this place, was at Peter Wood's last Sunday.

James G. Howe had the misfortune to cut his hand very badly one day last week, on his scythe.

Mrs. Lilla Scribner entertained a few friends last Saturday afternoon, it being in honor of her birthday.

Mrs. Susan Blanchard of Falmouth, is stopping with her brother and sister, Edward and Harriet Loring.

Will Grothe and family of Newton, Mass., who have been stopping at J. F. Scribner's, returned home Monday.

Water is scarce in some places in this vicinity and some of the people are talking of having the rocks taken up and digging deeper.

Mrs. Edith Merrill, who has been stopping the past eight months with her sister, Mrs. Bert Jilison, went to Bridge-water, Mass., last Tuesday.

J. F. Scribner and wife, Will Grothe and family, Mrs. Llewellyn Spur, Edith McCole and Lewis D. Holden and wife went to Moose Pond and enjoyed a picnic dinner on Moose Rock last Friday.

SUMMER.

Finishing Haying.

Chas. Hammond is working for W. E. Bowker haying.

John Harper is working for Israel Gammon & Son through haying.

George Burgess and Pearl Ripley have taken the hay to cut on the Millett farm in Hartford of G. F. Dyer.

Walter Sessions of Milton is helping Elmer Roberts cut his hay. His wife and baby are boarding at John Harper's.

Mrs. Walter Russell is in quite poor health.

Mrs. Chas. Tuttle is in poor health so as to need the aid of a physician.

The rain the first of the week was welcomed as it was getting quite dry here.

Enoch Morrill, who is working in Massachusetts, is on a visit to his father, G. C. Morrill.

W. R. Glover and wife of Livermore Falls visited relatives in Summer, the first of the week.

Albert Ames, wife and daughter Belle of South Paris, were guests of W. E. Bowker, last Saturday night and Sunday.

Artel Russell, our rural mail carrier, is very sick, threatened with pneumonia.

Mrs. Russell, his wife, has taken his place carrying the mail.

Mr. and Mrs. David Coles are being visited by his daughters, Mr. and Mrs. James McGaw and little daughter Phyllis, and Goldie Coles of Massachusetts, also his niece, Mrs. Susie Bowker.

EAST SUMMER.

Most all the farmers are near through haying.

Victor Lereaux and sister have been visiting A. H. Harlow.

Edith Pomeroy is visiting her sister, Mrs. Daniels, at Paris Hill.

Hazel Ellis of Massachusetts is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Arrel Russell.

Mrs. Edith Tucker and Elsie Newton of Hartford were in town, recently.

A number of people went to Black Mountain after blueberries, recently.

Frank Ryerson and family are to move into the house owned by Roana Robinson on Summer Corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richardson and daughter Edith from Rochester, N. Y., are visiting at D. H. Palmer's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Palmer and son Chester spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Susie Stover in Lewiston.

Edward Tucker, who has been spending his vacation with his parents, his returned to his work in Norway.

Little Arleanor Grenier, who has been visiting her uncle, Archie Grenier, has returned to her home in Lewiston.

The Baptist people are using the new chapel which they built at their church, and repairs are to be made inside the church.

NEWRY.

A. B. Frost finished haying, Thursday.

S. B. Frost has returned to the Soldiers' Home, Sogs.

Mrs. Edna Smith of Snow's Falls, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Dollie Carroll, who has been visiting friends here, has gone to Locke's Mills for a few days.

Norway Team the Winner.

At the annual rifle competition of the first regiment of infantry, National Guard of the state of Maine, held Thursday on the range of Co. F, two miles below Sanford village, Co. D of Norway was a new mark for the military riflemen of the state. In a seven-man, seven-shot match at 200 and 500 yards the Norway guardsmen rolled up a score that totaled 19 points better than centers.

This is the first year in the history of the guard that company teams have been required to fire beyond the 200-yard stage so there are no previous 200 and 500 yard records with which to compare today's work, but never in all the years that teams have contested for honors at 200 yards has the short-range mark been equalled.

The 200-yard work of the Norway contingent was good but when the team went back to the longer range it bettered that total by one point, adding 206 to its 205, thereby rolling up an aggregate score of 411 for the match.

Two Days Up the Valley.

It is the valley of Sunday River. You take the left hand road at Swan's Corner above Bethel. Should you bear to the right you would go up Bear River—famous for the trout that have been caught and Poplar Tavern. Sunday River is just famous on the lines. Big baskets of speckled beauties live only in the memory of the fishermen of by-gone days. They are not there to be caught. A few can be taken but it's not as it used to be. Fished out is the proper wording.

Five fish were taken from above the dam on Bull Branch to the bridge at Mr. Littlehale's. Augustus Littlehale, Wm. C. Leavitt and E. W. Sanborn did the fishing. It was Tuesday, July 25th. May be the sign in the almanac was not right. Two and a half, more or less, miles were fished over with results as stated—five trout of lawful length.

The pools, Varrell dam and Sunday River dams and some of the river were fished on the 12 trout were taken. The most of those came from the pools at the dams.

The same careful fishing twenty years ago over the same territory would have resulted in at least 20 to 30 pounds of fish. Wind no fault. We have caught our share of the fish in that valley. It is only what is expected.

Can it be remedied? May be. We hardly dare venture naming the remedy. Closing the streams from fishing for eleven months in the year would help. Allow the month of June to be an open month. Try this for five years. The fish would undoubtedly increase. A law similar to that on the streams in and about Andover might be better but we doubt it. The brooks about Andover are closed four days out of the seven up to Aug. 15th. In other words you can fish those brooks only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for May, June and July and up to Aug. 15th. It is claimed that the trout are increasing in Andover brooks.

Big game of deer have increased up this valley. There is little doubt but some are killed in closed time. The chance of being caught and fined for illegal killing is too great. A report that deer were being killed was investigated recently by a game warden. He spent several days in the valley and gathered some evidence which later on may be a surprise to some of the good people in the valley and the men in the camps. Killing deer in closed time is dangerous. There is no protection whatever for trout.

Mont Thurston was up the other day to see about repairing the Sunday River dam. The water runs through under the footings and apron. It is soon to be put into good shape for the spring freshets.

Some eight million feet of pulp wood were driven out of the river the past spring. A crew of 30 men are now pulling hemlock and spruce up river. It is said three years more will clean all the "Company's" pulp wood lands in the valley. This may be true and it may not.

All Should Live 100 Years.

Sir James C. Browne, the author of various works on mental and nervous diseases, does not agree with Prof. Osler and others that the world's effective vitality is gone between the ages of 25 and 40. Much of the world's best work, he said, has been done by men over 40. If the world were deprived of their work it would go back to the twilight of ages ago.

He quotes numerous instances to prove his contention. He urges that it is a duty to lengthen as well as to strengthen life. He adds that every man is entitled to a century and every woman to a little more.

Every child should be brought up impressed with the obligations of living to a hundred years, and should be taught to avoid irregularities in living which tend to prevent the attainment of old age. While it was certain that a century of health and vigor could be attained, it could only be reached by faithful obedience to the laws of health and simplicity and tranquility in living.

A "Sovereign" That Costs Only One Dollar.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., is a "sovereign" medicine for nervousness, rheumatism, kidney and bladder complaints, and all its peculiar to women. It drives the poison from the blood, and restores the patient to the bloom of youth. You never regret the exchange of one dollar for a bottle.

String Beans.

String beans. It means of course that you have a garden of your own and can pick the beans as soon as the dew is off. And choose only those pods that are as large as they can be and still be sufficiently tender.

You pick a large quantity. No little mess for side dish fussiness but enough to have plentiful. Being so fresh and tender, they should not be much broken. Of course you raise the kind that are not stringy. Permit not too much seasoning or rich dressing. Except that if you keep a cow your cook knows how to use cream. This string beans should be eaten leisurely. With company or children at the table it is necessary to use a fork; but with nobody who requires propriety watching you it is pretty nearly the top of delight to pick up a large tender pod with the fingers and bite off a good taste, then another. String beans are almost the only cooked dish that is not barbarous to fill up with. Keep eating as long as they taste good,—until you haven't any more.

The Country Editor.

The country editor is close to his constituents. They know him, and if they support and endorse him he is second to no man in the power that he wields in his neighborhood. If he fails in honesty or in fairness, he will not remain a country editor, because his influence vanishes with his good reputation. It is to the credit of the country editor that he is, to the number of several thousands, in the full enjoyment of public confidence and that he is, incidentally, earning a good living. He is not second to any one in his power for good in this country, and that his power is righteously exercised is known of all men.—[Chicago Chronicle.]

Edwin L. Carville of Mexico has been granted a discharge in bankruptcy.

Gems Found in Maine.

Lapis Lazuli is One of the Newest Beauties Pockets Full of Treasure, and Where They are Found.

The Maine gems are found in the Lepidolite strip, a strip of territory fifteen to twenty miles wide, extending from Newry, Andover, and Byron town to Casco Bay. Lepidolite, or lithia mica, always associated with tourmalines and is the first thing to look for when searching for those gems. Tourmalines are found in Newry, Andover, Rockland, Byron, Peru, Greenwood, Paris, Hebron, Norway, Minot, Auburn and Poland.

The color of these gems varies somewhat with the locality. The finest tourmalines are found as loose crystals in pockets and they vary both in color and in the rock in which they are found.

For the past fifty years it has been known that tourmalines abounded in Maine. It has been estimated that from Mt. Mica at Paris, which has been in operation for the past twenty years, $150,000 worth of the gems have been taken. The color of the Mt. Mica tourmalines, owing to some freak of nature, is different from those found elsewhere. Here are found the ordinary pink, which resembles sapphires, and the rare yellow tourmalines. But the green tourmaline variety in shade from the very light up to almost black and it is these dark green tourmalines which are peculiar to the Mt. Mica mines.

In the Mt. Mica Mines the mineral sheets consist of coarse gneiss and felspar rock and associated with the tourmalines is considerable corundum. Many of the tourmalines in the matrix are found in white quartz. At Mt. Mica was seen a day or two ago, a crystal about eight inches long, eight inches wide and twelve inches long which was studded with tourmaline crystal from one inch to an inch and a half in length.

White quartz crystal cuts and makes a very fine gem. Rose quartz when translucent is a handsome gem. Smoky topaz or smoky quartz is the calumet stone of Scotland. Smoky quartz makes gems which vary in price according to their clearness from $1.50 to $20. The most valuable pocket of smoky topaz which was ever found in Maine was taken from the Littlefield mine which is on the west cant of the hill at Mt. Apatite.

The quartz obtained from the Hatch mine is used in the manufacture of China ware and sandpaper and for lining the digestors of pulp mills and also, because acid has no effect upon it, for lining the waste water pipes.

About ten tons of felspar are being taken daily from Mt. Apatite. This is delivered to the felspar mill at Littlefield Corner and there crushed before being sent off in manufacture of dishes.

Mt. Apatite was named for the pretty clear, pink, green and blue stones of the same name which are very common here. Apatite is not properly speaking a gem, for it is so soft that it breaks and wears away easily. At Pit Pulisfer's mine which is west of the Littlefield mine on Mt. Apatite, 3,000 loose crystals of royal purple apatites were found in one pocket aside from 75 specimens of the matrix. This collection was bought by Harvard college and one of the professors has published a twenty-page pamphlet on this find, for apatite of a royal purple color are found nowhere else in the world. This mine is being worked by tourmalines.

A quartz crystal taken from this mine has a coating of albite one-eighth of an inch thick. The albite is found mixed in the rocks of the Hatch mine on the south cant of the hill at Mt. Apatite.

Just across the Androscoggin river from Mt. Apatite is the felspar mine of A. R. Berry. He has a contract to furnish one thousand tons of felspar a year. He now averages five tons of felspar a day. In his mine are pockets from which he obtains fine clear, green, pink and blue tourmalines. A rare gem found in his mine but nowhere else in Maine is the lapis lazuli, a pretty blue stone which is most common in Italy. This lapis lazuli has been found in pieces as large as a pea at Mt. Apatite, but not in any quantity. In connection with the lapis lazuli the lapis lazuli is found rhodochrosite, which is of a yellowish pink color and occurs in dog-tooth-spar crystal.

Coarse garnets are very common in Maine and occasionally stones suitable for cutting are found. Cinnamon garnet or cinnamon stone resembles gold stone. In Minot is a large ledge full of this cinnamon garnet. Near this ledge in boulders are found extra fine garnets, some of which have angles sharply defined and others, close to them, have truncated edges. Cinnamon garnets have twelve planes and iron garnets have from twelve to twenty-four planes.

One of the most valuable gems found on the American continent is a stone called beryl. The stone is harder than tourmaline and is only two degrees softer than a diamond. It sold for $15 a carat. At Stoneham was found an aqua marine which cut 115 carats and was valued at $50,000. This stone was exhibited at the World's Fair at Chicago. White beryl and particularly pocket beryl is very valuable and is found in long six-sided crystals in Auburn and is also found in masses or green beryl. Beryl is ordinarily opaque and of a yellowish green cast but varies from a mountain green and bluish green to white.

The golden beryl, which is clear and resembles although plentiful at Topsham and Brunswick. It is worth about $14 a carat in the rough.

At Gouldsboro was found the only piece of turquoise ever found in this State. It is usually found in the vicinity of silver and copper mines.

Amethysts are found in Stoneham of very rich color. A few fine amethyst crystals have been found on the Ellis farm at White Oak Hill, Poland, and a pocket of deep colored amethysts has been found on Mt. Apatite.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He spends nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars' outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Noyes Drug Store, Norway, Shurtliff's, South and West Paris.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examination with so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, headache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day.

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no matter how bad a woman's trouble is, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

Pickups. A woman's bonnet would not cost much if it wasn't for the trimming, said the miserly husband.

Neither would a man's whiskers, answered his wife.

When a man and his wife start to go anywhere he tells her to get out his new suit, fix the buttons on his shirt, put his cuffs, good shoes, tie his necktie and a few other little jobs. Then he puts on his hat and says: "Great Scott! Ain't you ready yet?"

First Dear Girl—That new dentist is such a lovely man, isn't he?
Second Dear Girl—Isn't he, though! Why, I actually feel happy every time my teeth begin to trouble me.

Mamma—Have some more sugar, Willie?
Willie—Why, you always tell me that more than one spoonful is bad for my health!

Mamma—That's at home. You're at a hotel now—take all you want.

Grace—What are you crying about?
Glady's—My new hat isn't becoming. All the girls—

Grace—Say it isn't!
Glady's—No; boo-hoo. They say it is!

Mrs. Jawback—James, you're an old fool!
Mr. Jawback—I knew something like that would happen when marriage made you and me one.

Friend of the Family—"Why do you always speak of your father as the governor?"
Son—"It pleases him so much; He never really has a say in anything; mother is the real executive."

Knicker—Does Jones gamble in stocks?
Booker—Not directly; he pays life insurance.

What makes Mrs. Joyner look so anxious?
She has gotten a dreadful quarrel. About what?

The election of officers in her Don't Worry Club.

They were giving a reception to the battle-scarred hero. "I am delighted to meet you, captain," exclaimed Miss Gushy. "So you were one of the men behind the guns!"

"String beans, ma'am!" responded the named veteran. "I was one of the men in front of the guns. Don't I look it?"

Mother—"I'm glad you're playing with good little boys now."
Tommy—"Yes; they ain't like the other kind. I kin lick any one o' dese kids if I want."

Johnny. "Papa, what is an optimist?"
Father. "A man who promises to go to another picnic while attending one."

Mothers lose their dread for "that terrible second summer" when they have Dr. Fowler's extract of Wild Strawberry in the house. Nature's specific for summer complaints of every sort.

Most girls change their manners along with their clothes and now that lingerie gowns and baby hats have come into vogue an ingenuitousness of demeanor or no longer deft conventions or glories in being called "a jolly good sort," but are nesting closely under their chaperon's sheltering wing.

Tan, too, which was acquired by hours spent under a broiling sun, seems to have lost its charm for only the most delicate of skins appears to advantage against light, fluffy attire. Some girls, following the example of a leader, wear their veils even while playing tennis. There may be a lack of genuineness in this departure, but it has the charm of novelty and the summer girl feels her self entitled to a different role from the one she has played during the winter season.

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses
no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Bilious troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate ailments which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy, and with a warm and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. A Word to Apple Raisers.

As the apple season of 1905 and 1906 is near at hand I wish to say a few words to the farmer.

Four years ago the price paid for apples in the fall was too low and the price paid in the winter was too high. This caused the farmers who sold in the fall to practically lose their apple crop. Those who sold in the winter received on the average about 50c more on a barrel than their fruit was worth, while those who sold in the spring suffered from the effects of the fictitious prices paid during fall and winter, and they would have been left out of the market if they could only live until the crop matured.

So they prepared the ground and waited. When the time came to invade the new pastures all were taken in but a few who were left on the cold side of the fence by the leaders as being too far gone to be worth rusticiating, as it would be a waste of good grass and there would be more for the others if they were left out and others were tied outside and not allowed to enter till the grass had been cropped short and the price had been bid up to 100 per cent. The buyers grew fat with amazing rapidity and the farmer grew lean in exactly the same ratio.

After New Years the competition of buyers for what there was left forced the price beyond what the fruit was worth and they commenced to grow lean again. But they had grown so fat in the fall they were still in remarkably good flesh when the season closed.

The autumn of too much has been followed by three years of not enough and the apple buyers having spent their money in various ways according to their liking are lean again and are preparing another rich pasture upon which to grow fat at the expense of the farmers.

The only way to keep any business in normal condition is to maintain healthy competition. The only way to give competition a chance to act is to keep yourself free from obligations to the buyers until you contract your fruit to them.

The only way to do this is to own the barrel the fruit is packed in and not be dependent upon the buyers for your barrel and have to promise your apples to them before you can get a barrel to pack them in. If you cannot obtain your barrels from men who make them to sell, you had better form an association, buy a car of shooks and make your own barrels. This will not be hard to do as any enterprising Yankee can learn to make a good one in a week.

But each and every one of you keep himself free to dispose of his apples when and where he pleases. Learn to handle your apple crop with the same intelligent grasp you use in other things. Do not put too much confidence in the man who is working for his own interests alone or miss a good opportunity to sell.

Good Partridge Season.

Predicted by Forest Commissioner Ring for This Fall.

A statement which will prove a pleasing bit of information to hunters of small game, was made by Hon. E. E. Ring, Commissioner of forestry and a member of the commission of inland fisheries and game. The talk was about partridges and when asked about the prospect for fall shooting, as far as these delicious game birds were concerned, Mr. Ring said that it should be good, as there were lots of them. The chicks are with their mothers yet, but they are growing and by the time that the law goes off, Sept. 15, they will be big birds, and ready for the hunter. The present season has been an exceptionally good one for partridges. The birds wintered well, last winter, as there was no crust, which often causes the death of many by imprisoning them under the snow, and it is probable that more of the birds survived the season of ice and snow than for a number of years.

Judging from the sizes of the broods which he has seen in his travels through the woods, Mr. Ring says the eggs hatched out well, and the weather which has prevailed since the hatching period has been very favorable for the propagation of the youngsters. Mr. Ring has traveled all over the wooded parts of the State, and everywhere he has seen young partridges in great numbers, from which fact the opinion is reached that the birds will be more plenty, this fall, than ever before.

More Pensions.

The report of the United States pension office in Boston for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, taking in the New England district, was sent to the pension department at Washington, Saturday. It shows a net increase on the pension roll of 1727. This is attributed to President Roosevelt's order, issued a year ago, enlarging the provisions of the pension law.

There is one Revolutionary war pensioner now on the roll, Rhoda Augusta Thompson of Woodbury, Conn., a daughter of Thaddeus Thompson, who was a member of Colonel Lamb's regiment of New York artillery during the Revolutionary war.

The report in part is as follows:
Number of pensioners on roll July 1, 1904, in New England, 55,880.
Number added to the roll during the year, 6,829.
Number dropped from the roll during the year because of deaths, etc., 5,102.
Number on roll July 1, 1905, 60,407.
Net gain for fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, 1,727.

The total amount paid out for the year was $7,510,801.44. The total amount of disbursements from the pension office, including money paid to pensioners living outside of New England, was $7,703,632.11.

The Fiction Number of Scribner's Magazine (August) will contain eight short stories with a wealth of beautiful illustrations; a colored cover by Walter Appleton Clark; a charming frontispiece in colors by Maxfield Parrish; and an article by Richard Harding Davis, in his most attractive manner, describing "The Passing of San Juan Hill."

A Way to Handle Trusts.

Results are fast, proving that one way to handle trusts has been discovered, to let the light of day on to their acts through the public press.

The Hummingbird.

If one wishes to have hummingbirds about the home all through the summer he should plant out a succession of large and brilliant flowers. Here in Maine one can never be sure when the hummingbirds arrive from the south or when they depart. It is our impression that the birds stay here longer than most suppose. This year the law of the air was early as the middle of May hovering among some scarlet geraniums which had just been set out of doors; and one fall when no killing frosts came until October, we found hummingbirds among the nasturtium very near the end of September.

We may know when most birds reach us from hearing songs or from seeing them fit the woods during their migrations. But the hummingbird does not sing, though at times it emits a purring sound—not made by its vibrating wings—especially when intruders come near its nest. One may watch hummingbirds for days at a time and never see one alight in a tree or on a building. In fact, it cannot be said to alight when it gathers insects from the corollas of gaudy flowers, as its wings are in motion all the time, causing its body to float in the air and sway from side as if impelled by gusts of wind.

We believe there is no brilliant flower that is shunned by the hummingbird. Early in the season it will not disdain to call at white lilac though the purple lilac is preferred. It haunts early geraniums, it dotes on gaudy cannas and nasturtiums, it seems to be light of heart about sweet peas, it lingers about stately groups of perennial phlox, it can be fond among the heads of red clover, red fire weeds and ruddy apple blossoms, and showy carnations and asters and balsams, and nearly every splendid flower that grows—almost contributing their toll to the bill of fare.

Though many think the hummingbird seeks honey from the blossoms of the flowers, upon which it makes frequent calls, it is our opinion that the bird is insectivorous. It comes nothing for white clover or buckwheat or basswood blossoms, all of which are rich in honey. But whenever a hummingbird can find a flower filled with flies and aphids and small chalcidæ, there it lingers long and there it comes to feed.

The bill of the bird is long and slender for the purpose of reaching to the very bottom of tiger lilies and cannas. The tongue is coated with a glutinous saliva, like masticage, to enable the bird to capture its chosen prey.

Everybody since Thoreau has said that the finding of a hummingbird's nest is the event of a lifetime, though this is hardly true in some cases; for we have discovered three without hunting for them. In some cases the nests are built on the horizontal limb of a tree not far above the ground. An apple tree is apparently its favorite. From the outside the nest is no more than a rough bunch of moss, though it is furnished with silks and fine plish. Instead of being airy, as one would suppose, the hummingbird is very bold when a person comes about its nest. It will flit back and fourth, at times brushing against the human intruder, evidently for the purpose of luring the visitor away. After a few days no attention is paid to visitors, the old birds going and coming as if a man were of no more consequence than a stump. The young birds are very ungainly and unbecomingly objects, giving no indication of the splendor they are going to display later on.

Though we have read of nests placed, above the porch of a house and in posts the only time we have seen one that was not constructed was some 35 years ago, when a pair of these birds built a most elaborate nest in the crevices of stone masonry.—Bangor News.

Crime From Jealousy.

A late incident furnishes a text from which a long sermon might be preached. Unfortunately, however, no preaching ever yet brought a man to his senses. Love is essentially a selfish passion. The great love, which many seas cannot drown, is of a different character entirely. The ordinary love in everyday use demands love in return. It feeds and thrives upon that which it gives out. It was so designed from the beginning that at times love is not reciprocal passion. Love does not beget love all cases. And a love which is sterile is a monster. It is jealousy and hate and murder and nearly all which is stretched and debasing. Few men or women who have lived have gone through their span of existence without experiencing some form of jealousy. Nothing but the Divine love which casts out suspicion and fear is free from it.

Nevertheless, if a person who is jealous will retain his mind long enough to reason the matter out, he must be convinced that any reprisal which may be made on account of jealousy is very senseless. Is not love enough? If love be of the right quality, it is so compounded that nothing can shake it free. It clings closely at all times, and once given, it can never be recalled.

Though fidelity and shame be its reward, the glory of having loved remains as a tender after-glow, which lingers when the light has gone out in shadows. The spite, which is born from neglect, is a childish impulse, which should be discarded as unworthy of a man or womanhood. And if one is resolved upon reprisal, the best way to secure it is to live uprightly and heal the ache in pursuit of other and nobler objects.

If men and women who have experienced the glory of having loved, live on earth a second time, the cure would be complete. Who among us old chaps does not remember the girl who preferred the "other fellow"? Since then we have kept watch of affairs and seen the outcome. Look at her now with his hollow mouth, who could think of kissing it? See the great crow's feet on that face which was once the home of beauty.

Take a look at that waddling figure and thank God the other fellow saved you from such a life. Where now is jealousy or love or even courteous regard? Jealous of her! The idea is absurd! Time has taught a lesson that no master of arts could give. It has bestowed a revenge far sweeter than any vengeance that human hands could render. Now, as in all past times, the best remedy for jealousy is another girl.

Summer Pionics.

One of the Most Pleasurable of Season's Sports.

This is the season of pionics. There are pionics and pionics. The one where the crowds rise early in the morning, pack lunch baskets full of all kinds of dainties, rush for the trolley, or take teams for a long drive into the country, perhaps to some lake where fishing and boating can be enjoyed, coming home at night tired, though it has been very gay and delightful.

Then there is the picnic where most of the day is spent on the deck of a little steamer, with an hour or two to scramble over rocks, breathe the refreshing sea air, eat lunch in some pleasant place looking out at the blue, sparkling sea and the music of the waves in one's ears. This is charming, but means too much preparation to be a picnic. A hurried rush in the morning and considerable weariness at night, mingled with pleasant memories of the day.

There used to be, a number of years ago, pionics in groves to which people went in hayracks and carriages. A rough board platform was erected, seats built, and with the exception of a little while at noon when attention was given to the lunch baskets, elderly people and children sat on the hard board seats and listened to speeches. Yet this was called a "picnic."

It doesn't take numbers to make an enjoyable picnic. Better a few companionable people than a larger crowd where the elements do not mix or harmonize. A hearty picnic of a little four-year-old boy who takes his dinner in a bag or pail and when he cannot get anyone to go with him goes away by himself and plays picnic.

If only people could picnic these beautiful summer days! Not pionics so elaborate that one or two a summer are all that can be brought to pass, but quiet little pionics, in a grove that is near or under a spreading elm or maple or even a big apple tree no farther than the home orchard. If a river view is procurable, or even a twinkling brook, it will add to the enjoyment, but in the beautiful summertime there are pretty, restful places everywhere.

A picnic with just a few and one that does not require much preparation, combined with a pleasant scene is what brings the real rest and refreshment which is what so many need in this busy life.

Pack up, if only a short time before dinner, a simple lunch, (but enough of it to insure a hearty meal). Sandwiches, cold coffee into which the milk has been scalded, plain cake or cookies, and a little fruit will make a satisfying, easily prepared lunch; put in pasteboard boxes with a few paper napkins and drinking cups and all is complete.

There are ways to vary this. Such a variety of sandwiches as one can make from things at hand. Thin slices of bread spread with peanut butter are delicious. Chopped meat seasoned and moistened with a little of the broth in which the meat was cooked, or chicken sandwiches made the same way are excellent. Sweet ones with a filling of marmalade or jelly make a nice change. Whole wheat bread, graham or brown bread are liked. Cheese, hard boiled eggs, canned salmon, roasts, cold ham, cold corned fish can take their turn, whichever is at hand.

Take an old wrap that contact with the ground won't hurt, or a straw lawn seat, which is light and easy to carry. Add book, pencil, tablet, a friend will forgive a letter written thus I am sure, and especially if in a letter to a Shunt-in-friend there could be put some of the delight of the outdoors, of the singing brook with the shady brown pools, the nodding, swaying ferns, the tall meadow rue which seems to grow where it can see its feathery blossoms reflected in the water, some suggestion even of the flickering lights and shades, now green, now golden. If one feels the need of having it done or the desire, there is often time to have it done when taken along without taking from the pleasure.

A book on flowers, ferns, trees or birds will prove a most interesting companion. A school girl expressed her regret in the way to her mother when she said: "It is odd how much more interested we are in anything we know something about."

A little acquaintance with the different kinds of ferns will give us much pleasure and interest in the woods. The wild flowers will have new beauty and new interest as we seek to study them. The different shapes of the leaves of trees, the varieties of the bark, the very way that the leaves of some trees have of quivering and fluttering, will appeal to us as a characteristic, if we are on the watch.

The birds are an interesting study. All these things will mean more and give us more if we can only be out among them. In Henry Van Dyke's beautiful "Footpath to Peace," he says:

"Spend as much time as you can in body and in spirit, in God's out-of-doors."

The Frog's Appetite.

A frog's capacity for enveloping his comrades and assimilating them was once shown by an incident which occurred under the observation of one of my acquaintances. He had returned from the country with a lot of frogs, large and small. I have forgotten how many there were, but they numbered over twenty, I am quite certain. These he put into a large bird cage, the wires of which were close enough together to prevent even the smallest from escaping. On the third day he went to see how his captives were doing, and found, greatly to his surprise, that all had disappeared with the exception of two old "moss-backs," and they were eying each other askance as though about to do with one another. He was surprised to find that the "last survivor of the whole ship's company," as he expressed it, was an insect catcher, the frog is quite expert, even such quick moving species as the dragon fly often falling victim to its deity. Fishes also are often captured, and good sized ones too, a fingerling trout having been found in the stomach of a frog which was not more than six inches in length.

For some little time interest in this locality has centered about the good ship Roosevelt, and why not with a Bethel man in command, the snow shoes made in Norway, and the stenographer from Poland.

Lawn Party.

The Ladies' Aid from the Methodist church gave a lawn party on the grounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Emmons last Friday evening. The lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and a booth where ice cream was sold. The entertainment consisted of graphophone selections by Mr. Ogden, two solos by Miss Peckover, accompanied by Zola Lane, and several piano selections by Everett Harmon.

Mrs. Annie Coffin of Swanscott, Mass., recently visited Dr. F. E. Wheeler.

Grace M. Dudley is attending the summer school for teachers at Ocean Park.

Mrs. Mary G. Bradbury and daughter Laura are picking berries at Maxin's at Locke's Mills.

Mrs. C. F. Howard and Miss Thomas of Massachusetts are visiting this week at H. G. Brown's.

The familiar sound of Mann's mill whistle was again heard last Monday morning after a silence of a few weeks for haying.

Material for the new Universalist church has begun to be delivered on the new lot and work on the building will soon commence.

Rev. E. A. Davis will be unable to preach at the Free Baptist church the first and third Sundays in August but he expects to send a supply for those days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bates attended the funeral of Mrs. Hannah Bates at West Sumner, Tuesday.

Mrs. Emma Mann has gone to Canton for a two weeks' visit. She went to East Sumner in a carriage and from there by rail and will return by Rumford Falls and Lewiston.

The fallacy in this section on Sunday at Monday was the greatest known for this time of year for several years. The meadow land between here and Snow's Falls is flooded with water. Part of the hay on the meadow had been cut.

The blind musician, Everett M. Harmon of Milford, Mass., gave a musical entertainment consisting of piano selections with songs, new and old, last evening at Dunham's hall. The Ladies' aid of the Methodist church had an ice cream sale table.

The body of Daniel Shaw of Rockland was brought here for interment last Tuesday, accompanied by his widow and friends who stayed over night at James Perry's, Mrs. Perry being a relative. The funeral was held at the Methodist chapel Wednesday, Rev. D. F. Nelson officiating.

GREENWOOD.

Mrs. Newell Swan is in very poor health.

Ross Coburn is at work for Oscar Peabody.

Bertha Bisbee is stopping with Mrs. Royal Martin.

Mrs. Charles Bean is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alton Day.

Baby girls are the welcome guests of both Alton Cole and Will Farr.

HANOVER.

Richardson-Dyer.

The most interesting event of this quiet little town was the marriage of Ada Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Richardson, to John Lyford Dyer of Monson Academy. The wedding took place at the home of the bride at 4 p. m. Wednesday, July 26. Rev. G. A. Martin performed the ceremony.

Mr. Martin was accompanied by Rev. Mr. Wyman. Both of these gentlemen were classmates of Mr. Dyer.

The guests included the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and some of the bride's classmates at Gould Academy and more intimate girl friends.

These attended to the decorating of the parlors, and their flitting to and fro with their pretty gowns and bright faces made our village seem quite festive for several days preceding the ceremony.

The presents were numerous and exceedingly beautiful and useful. Frank Bartlett, one of the bride's friends, sent her home in Denver, Col., a check for $100, while his wife's present was a dainty chateaufort watch in blue enamel.

Mrs. Martha Bartlett, an aunt, gave the bride a $100 bill. Mrs. Huthings, a lady 31 years old, gave the bride a quilt, the neatness of whose stitches would shame many of the present generation. Silver services, pictures, books, linen and bric-a-brac were among the presents.

The happy couple are now in Montreal but will be at home in Monson after Sept. 5th.

Margaret Whidden is visiting at Mrs. E. P. Smith's.

Helen Bartlett from East Bethel is visiting at Mrs. Eben Barker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce from Lexington, Mass., are visiting at J. E. Russell's.

McL Sanford is Mrs. Sidney Howe's for a short time. He is much better in health.

The farmers are nearly through haying and report a much better crop than was expected.

Many of Mrs. Richardson's guests at "The Ferns" left Saturday, but others are expected to fill their places.

Gustavus Kimball has sold his farm to parties from Grafton and will remove to Paris, where he will make his home with his brother.

Solon Putnam is visiting friends in town. He and Edson Hayford visited White Cap last week and brought home a nice lot of blueberries.

Susie Mitchell is quite seriously ill at her home here. It is very hard to find help which makes her condition more pitiable. Mrs. Nancy Silver is also under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Viola Russell is welcomed to Hanover after an absence of several months. Her health remains about the same. She is boarding with Mrs. Sidney Howe, but hopes to get into her own home soon.
